Carnival!

Playground • Dusk (after dinner)

You know it. You love it. It's Wednesday night, and what are you gonna do? Purchase some tickets, get a temp tattoo, get your face painted, try to make someone laugh. You know you're gonna try and put out some candles with a squirt gun!

If you want to run a booth, talk to Moriah sometime today. If you want to decorate that booth with a quality sign, talk to Evan (after you talk to Moriah).

A Word on Recycling

Camp Sierra offers recycling only for non-alcoholic beverage containers by the store porch. Any recyclable materials that we dispose of in trash cans will be treated as... I know, there's no such thing, but... garbage. Please do honor the song you all so beautifully on Saturday, and Pack Your Trash. At the least, please take beverage containers home with you and recycle them at home.

Come Play the Ukulele!

Rec Hall • 11:00 am

Learning to play the ukulele is joyfully easy. We had a great time on Monday, and would love to have more people for today's session. All you need will be there. Try it! You'll like it!

Health Care Maintenance

Rec Hall • 3:00 pm

Come join our health specialists, Eric, Lenore and Julie to explore any health-related issues you may care to discuss. Lifestyle, screening tests, health maintenance, etc.

Huntington Fishing Trip

Jacob caught the first fish. That led the way for 5 more catches from Billy, Milo, Elliott, and Jackson, who caught his FIRST FISH EVER! Big props, Jackson.

Sun was gotten. Sunscreen failed (for adults). It was a good time. No loss of life (excluding fish).

This year's crop of fisher-folk included: Carson, James, Quentin, Rodney, Jen, Steve Stewart, Jackson, Milo, Elliott, Billy, Jacob, Monty, & Isaiah

Fresh faced old time camper amazed by how little has changed!

Be not afeared fellow campers for an old timer has returned to remark upon how little of camp has actually changed!

The meals times are still 8 and yet not noon! But also at 6! which is just as baffling now as it was two decades ago!

The schedule is just as free form and nap filled as ever! Including the daunting but manageable morning time back to bed hike!

The most out of context word used in every other sentence is still potholes!

All of the lodges are still vaguely the same. Even though the famed double lodge is get this: a single lodge!

But ultimately first time or first in a long time, the magic of camp is still there, and that is all the people.

Indian Pools Report

Twin Pines (TP): How was the walk?

Ed Biglin (EB): Some old friends.

TP: *eye roll*

EB: Oh, I'll give ya an article.

Amy Carlstad (AC): why are you typing? He's not saying anything.

EB: That's what worries me.

Rae Wedel (RW): You're not gonna publish all this, are you?

TP: How's camp?

Jane Logan (JL): It's been great! 5 stars.

AC: I'm not saying another's word, cause she's putting everything in. Except what you're saying (points at EB).

Sponsored by General Sherman

Finishing Thoughts

Amy wants to know:

Is anyone going to want to go to Indian Pools after reading the article?

Ask Ed.

Hmong Pepper Sauce

Yield: 1 Quart. Will keep refrigerated 7-10 days.

2/3 Cup Fish Sauce (Viet Huong-3 Crab Brand used.)

1 bunch Cilantro, leaves separated from stems.

3 Limes, juiced

2 bunches green onions, 10-11 stalks.

2 Red Bell Peppers

1 Garlic head, peeled.

1 Tablespoon of Sugar per quart recipe. Sugar may be reduced or omitted entirely.

Chili peppers*

**Use whichever you have on hand and tolerate. Camp Batch 1 used 3 Serrano Peppers and Camp Batch 2 used 4 Jalapeños. This recipe was given to me by Michael Vang who uses 6-10 Thai Chili per quart batch.*

Finely chop Cilantro, Chilis, Bell Peppers, onions and add to large bowl, jar, or quart sized lidded container. Add in fish sauce, lime juice, and sugar. Finely mince garlic cloves and add into mixture, mix thoroughly with a spoon. Put lid on container or wrap tightly with cling film and put in fridge. Pepper needs to rest for 3-4 hours before consumption.

Please enjoy responsibly.

The soap plant: it pops. Be there*, at 6 pm.

**For those of you who didn't get to check it out on Tuesday, we will check it out again on Thursday. It's a soap plant.*

Dog's Observation on BBQ Dinner

Jack-Jack gets three hot dogs. Clarabelle Cow gets two.

Fair, you ask?
