Weather

Whoever told you that today was going to be cooler lied...
high of 84°F.

At least until the sun goes down... low of 61°F.

Gotta Dye 'Em All

Must try at least once!

Remember, there's "no such thing as garbage" as you mask the mysterious stains on your formerly white t-shirts. Join the crowd gathering outside the Craft Shack after lunch.

If you don't have a formerly white t-shirt, grab a t-shirt. Details below.

Be Kind to Bugs

You've probably noticed an abundance of bugs. remember while we're here (and we will leave), this is their home. And for most it's the only one they've ever known. Do your best to relocate the ones that get real crazy, but if you can avoid smashing them, that would be great. Thanks.*

**None of this applies to mosquitos, who are fair game.*

Campfire!

Campfire is being lit at the flagpole Tuesday and Thursday at sunset, hosted by Corbin and friends. Campers are invited to bring stories, music, and kids that crave s'mores.

Current Events Discussion

Hoping to start discussion by going around circle and let each participant speak for a few minutes about any issue that resonates with them. Then open up discussion.

T-Shirts a la the Moriah Marketplace

Word to the wise: Moriah will be selling brand new reprintings of the exclusive 70th anniversary edition of the Co-Op Camp shirt in blazing white—perfect for tie dye! The shirts come in two children's sizes (12$ each), and five adult ones (15$ each). Swing by the porch of King Cabin after lunch today, and take it direct to the craft shack to realize your artistic dreams!

U Can Ukelele

Ukulele strumming, pickling and singing will be Monday and Wednesday at 10:15 in the Recreation Hall.

We have extra ukuleles for you to use. I have also brought ukulele song sheets and a U-Bass and amp. Come and join us give it a try the songs we play are easy.

You can also come and sing along with us.

Sing Along

In Co-op Camp tradition, Victor (or whoever else would like to) will strum along on guitar for songs chosen by participants from Rise Up Singing and Rise Again. The more voices joining in joyful discordant harmony, the better. Come on down at 4 pm! You won't regret it.

Grand Opening: Sword's Rock Shop

There is a shop that sells rocks at the (swimming/wading) pool. You better collect some sticks (to purchase the rocks). Open Monday 10-11am (unless I am at sports camp).

-Elliott Sword

Shadrack Block Party

Happy Hour will be at Shadrack tonight – maybe by the steps, maybe by the road. Wherever it is, let's hope for some shade. The happiest of hours: 5 pm.

Happy Hour Happens

As it happens, "hap" is an old English word for "luck". You can hear echoes of it in words like "perhaps", "mayhap", "happenstance". Interestingly, it is also the root of the word "happy". You can meditate on the connection between luck and happiness

We were lucky to be down at Meadow Lodge at 5 PM yesterday, where you bibulous fellow campers shared their libations and healthful appetizers and good cheer. Happiness happens every day of camp - and it brings campers together somewhere in Camp. Ask around, bring something to share, and we'll see you there.

Macari Marooned

After a miscommunication at the morning meeting, Steve Mercari was marooned and missed the planned motoring to Shaver. Witnesses claimed that the reason was misplaced motivation, nor to a massive mammal (such stories are often manmade mythos in any case). To prevent further misunderstandings, the editors wish to maintain a list of further places that Mercari will not get a ride to this week: Mammoth Lake, Mt Morgan<sup>TM</sup>, or Madagascar.

Mountain Winds (Overheard at Camp)*

"I'm probably still going to smash a spider, if it's inside my cabin. Do as I say, not as I do."

"There were no goofem opportunities."

"I don't know anything about tie dye. I've never done it in my life."

You Asked & Amy Answered!

Dear Amy, I am a new camper—what are the things I should definitely do in camp?

Nice question, Newbie! There's three things that everyone should do in their first year in camp. Come folk dance with us! It's really fun, and friendly even for beginners. Second, make sure to go to the potholes! They're one of the most special swimming places you'll ever see. And, finally, go stargazing! If you walk up the camp road a short ways, you can get away from the lights of camp and get a spectacular show.

From Our Tech Overload: **Day 2 Delights at [Camp Name]**

Hello from [Camp Name]! Day 2 has been a blast with campers diving into nature hikes, unleashing their inner artists, and kicking up dust on the sports field. Our trails were so alive, even the trees had questions. In arts and crafts, we saw Picasso-level bracelet weaving and a few happy little trees painted in honor of our scenic hikes. The sports field turned into a battleground of laughter and competition—soccer skills were shown off, and relay races were run with more enthusiasm than the camp lunch line.

Evenings were filled with campfire tales that had us laughing so hard we nearly spilled our s'mores. Under the stars, friendships were forged and memories made that'll last longer than sunscreen on a sunny day. Day 3's got some big shoes to fill, but with these campers, we're ready for whatever adventures come our way!

QR Oopsie Daisy!

Big apologies to anyone who may have tried to subscribe to the online Twin Pines article yesterday. For some reason, the service we were floating for the mailing list online let in one subscriber and one subscriber only (now if only Rae could let us know what she did to get the golden ticket). That said, it can no longer be trusted, so making the jump to the 'Chimp.

Updated QR code below should work – though if you subscribe and aren't reading the Pines from your cabin bright and early Tuesday, please let us know of the issue.

Hiking by Horoscopes

Aries: You're feeling ambitious - consider hiking to Indian Pools!

Taurus: No matter the conditions on the trails, you'll be tackling the Potholes hike today at least twice!

Gemini: Grab your bestie and head for the Twin Lakes, a relaxing swim is in your future!

Cancer: You are very tired right now, consider taking yourself on a back to bed hike this morning!

Leo: Take charge and show leadership, go directly to the Point!

Virgo: We see you hiking around camp pretty much all day, just doing laps - you know why.

Libra: Seek balance within, go on an inner hike of self discovery while drinking your third cup of coffee.

Scorpio: Channel your inner Dave Mendes, you're scaling Kirkoff this afternoon!

Sagittarius: Be grateful for the views you'll find at the summit of Mount Givens!

Capricorn: Don't tell anyone tell you that hiking to your car in the parking lot is not a valid hike. We mean it! Not one person!

Aquarius: Just keep going!!

Pisces: A good cathartic cry is every bit as satisfying as a good hike!
