

Twin Pines

Saturday • June 30, 2024

Day 8 – Great Cesar's Ghost!

SATURDAY'S CALENDAR

8:00 am – Breakfast (Dining Hall)

12:00 pm – Checkout Time

Weather: Wherever

Los Banos

Only? ... high of 97°F.

So pleasant ... low of 61°F.

San Francisco

So summer... high of 69°F.

Such weather... low of 53°F.

Los Angeles

Why would anyone ... high of 83°F.

Want to live here? (it's not us, blame Ben Gibbard!) ... low of 62°F.

Mercury

Drive the Mercury ... high of 427°C.

It'll take you to the stars ... low of -180°C.

Final Fantasy

Well, that's it, the last day of camp is finally here. Check out is 11am – don't forget to sweep your cabin, unplug your cables, and pack up all your things. Let's be good stewards of this place love we so much! We hope to see everyone back here next June – if not sooner (see: Glamp Sierra segment)

Co-op Does Indeed Have Talent

Talent was shown in abundance from the stage, but also from the audience with their quick wit and endless flexibility. Poetry, song, and alphabet were all on display as campers put themselves out there on the stage. Be sure to arrange some meetup jam sessions down the mountain in advance preparation for next year. Thanks to Shira and Jeremy for hosting!

Tip Tip Hooray!

$1,114 collected in blue bowls... Figuring out to $220 / person. Not quite as solid a night as the million dollar* auction, but there's always next year.

Thanks to the staff so much for all the tasty food, quick responses to various issues as they arouse, and the warm reception! Camp just wouldn't work without them!

Real auction total $1,434.*

Glamp Sierra

Not enough camp? Need more potholes? Come back for a weekend – you know the place, now here's the dates: August 8 – 11.

Check out www.glampsierra.com for more information (to soon be updated with 2024 info – stay tuned, but bookmark the page)

This Year's Paper Was Sponsored By: Schwinn

Nothing rides like a Schwinn, and we mean it.

Harry's Puzzle

Y'all, did we finish this bird puzzle? Better go check the rec hall to find out – and maybe learn a little bit about your state bird and flower while you're at it.

Co-op Campin' Time

by Joy-Lily and Karen Maki

(sung to the tune of Summertime from Porgy and Bess)

Campin' time
and the livin' is easy.
Potholes are fillin'
and the cuisine is fine

One of these mornin's
you'll rise up at 7

For caffeine on the deck
and news that informin'

Go on a hike,
or kick back in the shade
As long as your bag lunch is already made.

Play ukelele
or choose to folk sing
Then help to rinse out
some tie-dyed things

Carnival time
to get your face painted
To have your cards reads
and pick a tattoo design

Saturday mornin'
we'll all rise up singin'
Pack up our cars
and be headin' for home

Until that mornin'
ain't nothin can harm ya
With co-op campers
standin' by.

So sign up real early
and bring up your friends

So that Co-op Camp spirit never ends!

Rae's List

All the outlets on the stage have blue tape on them. I don't know why.

*Editorial staff insert: Rae is working diligently to make camp better. Thanks, Rae.

Mountain Winds (Overheard at Camp)

"Slow down, Cow"

"I am one of ten bad campers."

"Surprise, surprise: Rae was right.
"And modest, too"

"This is a NICE nut."

"Well, the baby didn't show!"

"Nothing dances like a Carlstad."

"It was very good though – kinda poetic."

Frosé – the Drink that Hoist Me with My Own Petard. And Why Open Hearts and Minds Still Matter.

Tsan's Drink of the Day

I'm a red wine girl, if I'm going to drink rosé at all, it better be a skin-kissed orange number with a little minerality and some getting used-to (like me). And it better be hot outside. Don't get me wrong: if you've got some Nicolas Feuillatte, I'm your huckleberry, but I generally do not "do" the pink stuff. In the words of Madeleine Kahn, it's so "ordinary."

So it was with a sense of snob-like superiority that I turned up my nose at the "Frosé" offered to me by the cutest Cuban waiter ever in a Miami brunch hotspot. Frozen Rosé? Thank you, but no. I'll have a Sancerre, please. I'm not a farmer.

Apparently, he'd seen the haughty likes of me before and simply replied, "I'll just bring you some, anyway," and off he went. I'll cut to the chase: I had three glasses, we became besties, and he even gave me the recipe. I learned all about his life, how he landed in Florida, and we even hung out afterward and danced to the live salsa music. I'm now a life-long lover of frosé and have a better understanding of the Cuban spirit. Win-win.

Camp Sierra teaches us many things, including how to follow in salsa (thanks, Maxine and Don), make a real Irish Coffee (I'm lookin' at you, Paul), and give a great hugs (Lars wins!). Most importantly, I think, camp is the place where we learn to be open and available to new ways of thinking and being. Those lessons don't stop when we leave and in a polarizing world, we need them even more. Here's how to make Frosé.

Pour a bottle of hearty rosé into ice cube trays and freeze. The alcohol content will make the cubes a little soft, but they'll freeze to a slush like consistency sufficient to get them out of the container. Freeze about 8 ounces of hulled strawberries (or you can simply purchase frozen ones). Add the frozen berries and the frozen wine to a blender, with 3 oz of fresh lemon juice and (optional) 4 oz simple syrup. Blend. You can drink right away, or put back in the freezer for 30 minutes to firm up.

Note: Gordon Ramsay suggests serving this in paper cups (not glass) because it will melt far slower. Can confirm. BTW, this is a great way to use up leftover rosé. I always have a few cubes and a few frozen berries in the freezer for a Frosé emergency.

Ask Amy

"Now that you've considered all your options, what is the best day to leave Camp."

AC: Well, Saturday. with everybody else. Now I'm ready. Apparently I wasn't ready on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday. Now I'm ready.

What is Hip-o-scopes?

Aries: Never go to Indian Pools again. You're done.

Taurus: Specify. Simplify. Shopify.

Gemini: Gemini. You get it.

Cancer: You need optimism in your life. Optimize your life: swell your e-wallet.

Leo: Everything you need is inside you. The rest you can get at next year's auction.

Virgo: We are actually doing this.

Libra: Stare down your enemies.

Scorpio: I scream. You scream. Smooth ice cream.

Sagittarius: Make some more enemies.

Capricorn: Do you really need that bag of ice?

Aquarius: You are Ken-nough.

Pisces: All that stuff you're looking for? You left it at Happy Hour.

From the Editors

Thank you all for reading and (hopefully) enjoying the Pines this week!

Relive the fun of the week: 2024 Twin Pines now posted on www.coopcamp.com/twin-pines

And remember to subscribe to the Pines online to get all future editions...including...possible mid-season specials?!?! Won't know till you try it.

Our IDOL DIANA has GRACED us with a TINY new DISC LOADED with LUTE PSALMs and PASTEL TONES.

A	L	B	U	M		A	S	A	P			G	S	B
D	I	A	N	A		D	E	L	I			S	O	A
D	I	N	I	N	G	H	A	L	L			T	O	N
					F	O	R	D				L	O	A
			A	G	O	R	A		D	I	S	A	R	M
A	T	A	R		C	H	A	N		T	R	O	T	S
T	E	R	M		E	A	R	S		E	Y	R	I	E
T	A	B		F	D	R		I	I	S		N	M	R
A	S	A	L	A		D	I	S	C		P	I	E	R
R	E	G	A	L		L	U	T	E		I	N	L	A
			E	S	S	A	Y	S		B	A	G	G	Y
P	A	S	T	E	L				T	A	T	E
I	D	O	L		P	L	A	Y	G	R	O	U	N	D
T	I	N	Y		H	E	R	R		I	N	D	I	A
A	T	G			A	S	T	A		P	S	A	L	M

Solution to Friday's crossword

Contemplate the emptiness,
and fill it with your soul

Crossword Solution

Co-op Colors

